Nature of Case (Nature of case and disposition below. Attach additional page if necessary.)

Plaintiff's assignor CIT obtained a judgment in USDC Eastern District of Virginia on October 4, 1993. The judgment was registered under 28 USC 1963 in the Southern Division of the U.S.D.C. for Maryland on August 27, 2003. The assignee judgment creditor (Wells Fargo) sought enforcement of the judgment. The judgment debtor (Asterbadi) moved for a protective order asserting that the judgment was no longer enforceable due to the passage of 20 years since its entry in the Eastern District in 1993 and was unenforceable as of 2013 and that Wells Fargo lacked standing because the assignment of the judgment was defective because Wells Fargo failed to comply with Md. Rule 2-624. Judge Grimm held that Wells Fargo had standing by virtue of the Assignment and Assumption Agreement that was an exhibit even though the assignement failed to mention any judgment against Asterbadi that was the subject of the assignement. Judge Grimm concluded that the statute of limitation issue on registered federal judgments under 28 USC 1963 now before the court was one of first impression in this district as to whether the registering of a federal judgment under 28 USC 1963 constituted a "new judgment" such that the statute of limitations commenced anew upon registration, namely 2003 and accordingly the Maryland statute of limitations of 12 years that commenced in 2003 and had not run.
